TREND OF THE MOMENT

exhibit a

+ TOAST ARMANI AND THE GUGGENHEIM Museum Artists' Ball, which takes place next month, Jacqueline Sackler hosted a dazzling dinner party at her art-filled Manhattan loft. Topping 60, the high-powered guest list included gallerists Gavin Brown, Amalia Dayan, and Barbara Wilhelm. The menu, prepared by Town chef Geoffrey Zakarian, paired perfectly with Raul Avila's stunning jewel-toned flower arrangements. Art and fashion—always a winning combination—were at their best: “I loved the way some guests mixed Armani pieces with their own,” says Sackler, who wore a brilliant amethyst look. “The energy was amazing.” □ talking fashion >144

At Sackler's house party, the evening's biggest hit was the huge jewels worn by everyone from Marielle Safra and Eva Lorenzotti, both in mega-sparkly stones, to Hope Atherton, who went for a groovier metallic necklace. Accenting dresses of simpler silhouettes, these outstanding accessories put the finishing touch—and a splash of glamour—on a most intimate and elegant night.
